NO. 811[illegible] COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1903—TEN PAGES. PRICE FIVE CENTS

About [illegible] Persons [illegible] Strike Now and Total of Nearly 5,000 Men [illegible] the Day [illegible] Arbitration Plans [illegible] Acceptance—No Picketing.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, May 13.—The [illegible] situation [illegible] city is [illegible]. At [illegible] [illegible] about 3,000 [illegible] on strike, with 15,000 other union [illegible] to obey the strike order [illegible]. The cooks and waiters [illegible] in the number out [illegible] of them [illegible].

[illegible] bakeries, and [illegible] eating [illegible] crippled by the withdrawal [illegible]. The fire and police board is still endeavoring to get the two [illegible] controversy to [illegible], but there are only a few who [illegible] the board's endeavors will [illegible] in that direction.

A [illegible] was held tonight between the joint executive committee of the labor unions and a committee from the Citizens' alliance, at which the union plan of arbitration which [illegible] union shall arbitrate its [illegible] with its employers [illegible], was submitted to the [illegible] committee. It was agreed that an answer should be returned by [illegible] o'clock [illegible] morning.

Afterward a meeting of delegates from all the unions in the city, representing about 16,000 members, was held. The action, so far, of the joint executive committee were indorsed and it was decided that special meetings should be [illegible] of every union in the city within [illegible] hours to decide whether the joint committee shall be given power to call a general strike.

Former Lieutenant Governor D. C. Coates, chairman of the committee, said after the meeting:

"I have no doubt the power to call a strike will be granted by every union in the city. The result depends entirely upon the answer we receive from the Citizens alliance. If they accept, there will be no strike, but no counter proposition can be considered."

Mr. Coates states that, it is said [illegible] that Judge Palmer of the district court has had an injunction against the unions under consideration for the past 24 hours, but no injunction has been served up to a late hour tonight.

No Picketing.

The labor men have conceded one point today and that is [illegible] not to picket the boycotted [illegible]. This decision was reached because [illegible] would likely lead to violence [illegible] serious demonstrations, [illegible] the ruling of the fire and police board on the point, the unions thought it better to discontinue picket duty entirely. Notwithstanding this, there have been several cases of riot here tonight and the police department and its patrol service have been kept busy on riot calls. A request [illegible] to the [illegible] to close all saloons in this city during the present trouble, and as the Board has taken the matter under advisement, the saloons may be closed. It is within the jurisdiction of the fire and police board to close saloons in emergencies such as exist here at the present time.

State Arbitration Board.

Governor Peabody has requested the state board of arbitration to offer its services in the present trouble. Under the law now in existence, which was recently passed by the Fourteenth general assembly, the state arbitration board has been given increased powers which if enforced may result in a settlement of the controversy.

F. M. DeLaVergne of Colorado Springs and William Walk of Pueblo with Mr. Harley, compose the board. Mr. DeLaVergne was appointed by Governor Peabody as an employer of labor and Mr. Walk as the representative of labor. The position of the secretary is supposedly neutral. Both Messrs. DeLaVergne and Walk have accepted their appointments and as they have not submitted names from which a new secretary should be appointed by Governor Peabody, Mr. Harley will remain as secretary until the present differences are settled.

Helped Themselves.

Early this morning patrons of restaurants were forced to help themselves and pay on honor. This condition has existed here in the restaurants all day long. The largest restaurant in the city, the Home Dairy, was the first to be affected. As the waitresses and cooks came down for duty, they were stopped at the door and notified to walk out. They immediately obeyed. The Chesapeake waitresses and cooks walked out in a body later. Then followed nearly all of the other restaurants in the city. Tortoni's and the Metropole are the only two places which have not suffered by the strike.

The number of union people now on strike is 2,296. They are divided as follows: Teamsters unions, 600; butchers, 550; cooks, 100; waiters, 430; restaurant [illegible], 26; bakers, 170.

EVERY DAY SHOWS FURTHER DISCREPANCIES AND EXPERT BACH SAYS TOTAL SHORTAGE IN CORAY'S OFFICE CAN NEVER BE DETERMINED

Still further discrepancies were uncovered in connection with the investigation of the records of H. G. Coray yesterday. The checking of the permits [illegible] for the removal of buildings was commenced by Accountant Bach, and it was learned that in every case permits had been issued without any receipt whatever being given to the person to whom the permit was issued.

Evidence is also coming to the knowledge of Mr. Bach which indicates that the records in the office are wholly unworthy of credence and form no indication whatever of money collected by the building inspector. The receipts for money paid have been turned over to Mr. Bach in some instances, and in many of the cases it has been found that the receipts show more money to have been actually paid than is accounted for in the records of the office.

There are no records in the office of the building inspector from which the permits issued can be checked, and it will be [illegible] for Mr. Bach to get at the amount involved without calling in the representatives of the various house moving companies of the city.

A number of permits have been issued for this work, the fees for which range from $ to $10, but very few of them have ever been entered on the books of the office. Mr. Bach stated yesterday that he would request the various house-moving firms to bring their permits to the office in order to furnish a basis from which to begin the checking of the records. It is his intention to find the number of permits issued, and compare that number with those recorded in the books of the office. The difference that will be found by this comparison will be approximately the number of permits unaccounted for.

In one instance the records show the sum of $3 as having been received by the inspector, while the receipt showed the sum of $13 to have been paid. The balance of $10 is unaccounted for and must be charged to Coray's shortage. In another instance the records show that the sum of $3.50 was collected for the building permit and the water used in the construction of the building. The receipt on the other hand shows that Mr. Coray received $4.80. In still another instance, which came under the observation of the canvassers, the receipt for the amount paid had evidently been written on the street. It was written in lead pencil on the torn corner of a piece of foolscap paper and showed the amount of $3.50 to have been paid to the inspector. The records on the other hand make no mention of the collection whatever.

Coray's System.

A great many of the books of the office show that permits were torn out of the permit book and issued in the regular form, but the stubs have never been filled out and it is impossible to tell what became of the permits torn out.

John Long, one of the moving contractors of the city, called at the office of Mr. Bach yesterday and stated that he had been paying for permits for the removal of houses but had never been given receipts for the fees paid. Mr. Long has been asked to bring all his permits to the office for checking purposes, and requests of a similar nature will be sent D. R. Tripp, who reported Tuesday that he has paid Coray $100 for which he had been given no receipt, to Lyman Sproul, J. W. Thomas and Erastus Long. These men are all moving contractors and it is hoped by getting their permits to make some check on that part of Coray's records.

Regarding the Plaza hotel water permit which was reported yesterday as not being on the books of the inspector's office, it was stated by Chairman Dunbar that Lynn J. Atkinson, the contractor had called his attention to the fact that the water used in the construction of that building had come through a meter which was entered under the name on the records of the water commissioner. He said also that the water commissioner's records show the sum of $40 to have been paid for the water used in connection with that work.

The canvassers who are looking up the other discrepancies reported only a few cases yesterday, but in nearly all of them it was found that the fees had been paid but not entered.

Records Worthless.

Mr. Bach was at work yesterday on a system of blanks, receipts and permits which will be issued in the future by the building inspector's office. He is also preparing a system of books in which to enter the records of the office. In speaking of the condition of the records, he said yesterday: "From my investigations I find that the records of the office are practically worthless. Many of the items are not entered at all and many of the others are entered erroneously. It will be impossible to ever arrive at the actual shortage of the office, and the most that can be done will be to straighten out the records as much as we can, collect the money where none has been paid, and stop there."

Chairman Dunbar said it was his intention to see the matter through. "The job is a mean one," he said, "but we will stay with it until we have sifted the shortage to as accurate an amount as we can and placed the information in the hands of the district attorney."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH ON EXPANSION

An Address Dealing With the Development of Pacific Coast Trade, Its Future and the Necessity of a Greater Navy—Great Gathering at Mechanics Pavilion Roused to Enthusiasm.

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, May 13.—Tonight at Mechanics Pavilion, the greatest assemblage hall of San Francisco, President Roosevelt made the most important speech he has delivered since he left St. Louis. His subject—"Expansion and Trade Development and Protection of the Country's Newly Acquired Possessions in the Pacific," together with the advocacy of a greater navy, was one that made his discourse of particular interest to Californians, and he aroused his auditors to a high pitch of enthusiasm. It was a mighty gathering that listened to the president. The doors of the pavilion were thrown open to the public at an early hour and thousands of citizens thronged the building long before the time scheduled for the arrival of the presidential party.

M. H. DeYoung, president of the citizens reception committee, opened the meeting and Mayor Schmitz formally introduced the president to the people of San Francisco. It was some minutes before the cheering subsided and the president was able to make himself heard. He said:

"Before I saw the Pacific slope I was an expansionist and after having seen it I fail to understand how any man confident of his country's greatness and glad that his country should challenge with proud confidence our mighty future, can be anything but an expansionist. In the century that is opening the commerce and the progress of the Pacific will be factors of incalculable moment in the history of the world.

"Now, in our day, the greatest of all the oceans, of all the seas, and the last to be used on a large scale by civilized man, bids fair to become in its turn the first in point of importance.

"Our mighty republic has stretched across the Pacific and now in California, Oregon and Washington, in Alaska and Hawaii and the Philippines, holds an extent of coast line which makes it of necessity a power of the first class on the Pacific. The extension in the area of our domain has been immense, the extension in area of our influence even greater. America's geographical position on the Pacific is such as to insure our peaceful domination of its waters in the future, if only we grasp with sufficient strength and resolution the advantages of this position. We are taking long strides in this direction; witness the cables we are laying down and the great steamship lines we are starting—steamship lines, some of whose vessels are larger than any freight carriers the world has yet seen. We have taken the first steps toward digging an isthmian canal, to be under our own control, a canal which will make our Atlantic and Pacific coast lines to all intent and purpose continuous and will add immensely alike to our commercial and our military and naval strength.

"The inevitable march of events gave us the control of the Philippine islands at a time so opportune that it may without irreverence be called providential. Unless we show ourselves weak, unless we show ourselves degenerate sons of the sires from whose loins we sprang, we must go on with the work that we have begun. I earnestly hope that this work will always be peaceful in character. We infinitely desire peace and the surest way to obtain it is to show that we are not afraid of war. We should deal in a spirit of fairness and justice with all weaker nations and we should show to the strongest that we are able to maintain our rights. Such showing cannot be made by bluster, for bluster merely invites contempt.

"Let us speak courteously, deal fairly and keep ourselves armed and ready. If we do these things we can count on the peace that comes only to the just man armed, to the just man who neither fears nor inflicts wrong. We must keep on building and maintaining a thoroughly efficient navy with plenty of the best and most formidable ships, with an ample supply of officers and of men, and with these officers and men trained in the most thorough way to the best possible performance of their duty. Only thus can we insure our position in the world at large and in particular our position here on the Pacific.

"It behooves all men of lofty soul who are proud to belong to a mighty nation, to see to it that we fit ourselves to take and keep a great position in the world, for our proper place is with the expanding nations and the nations that dare to be great, that accept with confidence a place of leadership in the world. All our people should take this position, but especially you of California, for much of our expansion must go through the Golden Gate, and the states of the Pacific slope must inevitably be those which will be most benefited by and take the lead in the growth of American influence along the coasts and islands of that mighty ocean where east and west finally become one.

"My countrymen, I believe in you with all my heart and I am proud that it has been granted me to be a citizen in a nation of such glorious opportunities and with the wisdom, the hardihood and the courage to rise level to its opportunities."

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 13.—The volume relating to appropriations made, new offices created during the last session of congress has been completed for the second session of the Fifty-seventh congress by Thomas P. Cleaves and James C. Courts, chief clerks respectively of the house and senate committees. A summary of the appropriations shows a grand total of $753,058,50-.

In addition to the specific appropriations made, contracts are authorized to be entered into for certain public works requiring future appropriations by congress in the aggregate of $30,[illegible], the principal item of which is $[illegible],000 for additions to the navy.

The new offices and employments specifically authorized are 11,816 in number, at an annual compensation of $7,[illegible]. The total appropriations made by the Fifty-seventh congress amount to $1,558,[illegible], an increase over the Fifty-sixth congress of $112,19-,567. CLOUDBURST FLOODED THE CITY OF JACKSONVILLE

By Associated Press.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 13.—The rain which fell yesterday and last night assumed the proportions of a cloudburst this morning and when the citizens prepared to leave for their places of business, many of them found their homes completely surrounded by water. Many were driven from their residences or forced to go to upper stories by the water. One square mile of the town was under water. Fully half a mile of Bay street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was under water, and much damage was done to stocks of goods. The water was two feet deep in the waiting room of the union station and every railroad track entering the city was under water.

The city is in total darkness tonight, the water being a foot deep in the electric light power house.

The railroads suffered losses probably amounting to $100,000. Many bridges in the county were washed away. The total loss will probably not be less than $400,000.

SUPREME COURT ASKED TO DECIDE IN RAILWAY CASE

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 13.—A petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of W. O. Johnson vs. the Southern Pacific Railway company was docketed in the United States supreme court today. The case involves the construction of the act of 1893, requiring railroads engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers. Johnson, while coupling a locomotive to a dining car, neither of which carried an automatic coupler, at Promontory, Utah, in 1900, was injured and sued for damages. The lower courts decided in favor of the railroads, holding that dining cars standing on a switch and being moved by a freight engine were not cars engaged in interstate commerce.

Solicitor General Hoyt has filed a suggestion to the court, asking that it take cognizance of the case on certiorari, saying "if it would be no violation of the statute for a carrier to haul an empty car, not used to move interstate traffic, from one end of its railroad to the other, it would follow that a dining car in the course of a trip from Ogden to San Francisco which happened to be empty—for dining cars are not in constant use by the travelling public—would not be subject to the control of congress. It is submitted that the car in question was regularly engaged in interstate commerce; that no intention was manifested to take it out of that service; that, on the contrary, it was stopped for the purpose of being returned to San Francisco, and therefore was evidenced an intention to retain it in that service. The construction placed upon the act by the circuit court of appeals would lead to varying and conflicting state and federal authority over cars used in interstate commerce which might be stopped temporarily while being detached from or attached to an interstate train."

GREAT NORTHERN STRIKE SITUATION ENCOURAGING

By Associated Press.

St. Paul, May 13.—No strike was declared upon the Great Northern road tonight and affairs have assumed a much more encouraging aspect. Negotiations between the committee representing the men and officials of the road, which were broken off on Tuesday, have been renewed and the outlook tonight is for an amicable settlement. Neither side will say what concessions, if any, have been offered but that they are more favorable than any so far made, is evidenced by the fact that the calling of a strike has been deferred until the conference tomorrow morning.

The committee of business men from St. Paul and Minneapolis that last night secured the consent of the grievance committee to attempt to bring about an amicable arrangement of the difficulty is understood to be largely responsible for this happy turn affairs have taken. They held a conference with the grand officers and the general committee during this morning and part of the afternoon. The demands of the men were fully discussed, Messrs. Garretson and Newman, representing, respectively, the Conductors association and the Trainmen's brotherhood, fully explaining their side. The stand they take is that all transcontinental roads have granted the demands upon them by the unions, with reference to the running of double-headers, and that if the Great Northern is given greater concessions in reference to this matter than have been granted the other roads, the latter will charge a breach of faith on the part of the grand officers. The business men's committee urged the men to refrain, if possible, from tying up the road, pointing out the disastrous effect such a move would have upon the business interests of the northwest and recommended a spirit of mutual concessions. Mr. Garretson, on behalf of the men, declared that they would not allow anyone to exceed them in yielding, once a spirit of yielding were shown by the company. He further stated that all preparations had been made for the declaration of a strike and that unless some tangible offer were made on behalf of the company looking to concessions of a satisfactory character, a strike would be declared after 6 o'clock.

After their conference with the men the business men's committee waited upon General Manager F. E. Ward and listened to the company's side of the case. Then a conference was arranged between the general manager and the grievance committee at which members of the business men's committee were also present. This conference lasted until 6:25 p. m., and, upon its breaking up, Chairman Cooper of the business men's committee announced that Mr. Garretson had given assurance that no strike would be ordered tonight and that the conference would be resumed at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, with every prospect of a successful termination. While all of those who were present at the conference were extremely reticent, it is learned from an authoritative source that concessions satisfactory to the men had been offered by the road and that all that remained to be done was to decide upon certain minor terms of detail.

What has been the result of the entire matter, so far as the officials of the road are concerned, has been the fear that to concede the demands of the men on the double-header question would simply open the door to a demand for a standardization of the line. The Great Northern runs only about 3 per cent double-headers, but owing to its low grades and heavy motive power is able to haul much longer trains with a single engine than any of its competitors. With a standardization of trains, however, the advantage the road enjoys by reason of its low gradient and high motive power would be done away with. This, it is understood, is the reason the road has stood so strenuously against the demands of the men on this question.

DR. ANDERSON REPORT CONCERNING ADVERTISING PLANS WILL COME UP TONIGHT

The committee on advertising of the chamber of commerce is beginning an extensive campaign for subscriptions to the advertising fund of $10,000 which will be used in setting forth the claims of Colorado Springs as a health resort for all classes of ailments, full-page advertisements to appear weekly in the leading medical journals of the country.

The plan for a casino at which invalids will be able to gather throughout the entire year, screened from wind or those rare days in Colorado Springs when the weather is bad, was yesterday the subject of favorable comment and has been enthusiastically indorsed.

The committee is planning to send out circular letters embodying the facts set forth in the report of Dr. B. P. Anderson, chairman of the advertising committee. The report calls the attention of members of the chamber of commerce, business men and citizens of Colorado Springs and vicinity generally to what the committee conceives will produce the greatest good and bring the speediest results for the benefit of the city and its people. The report states:

"Looking backward, it must be admitted that our city had its birth and its developing growth and consequently its present renown as a health resort, and that the invalid class not only gave this city its reputation as the most beneficial and attractively ideal all-the-year-round climate, but also was the means of making our state an empire in itself. With recovering health the invalid classes remained in Colorado to embrace their material opportunities. They developed our hidden resources; opened our mines; invested their capital in stocks, ranches, sheep and cattle; were the prime movers in all enterprises, developing new fields and new territory wherever discovered. The invalid class, or those coming here in search of health only, were also largely instrumental in building our railroads; in truth, they were the prime movers in almost every successful undertaking in our state.

"In our city, coming nearer home, the above truths are self-evident and no one can deny that the invalid classes were the builders and the material helpers in our growth and prosperity. As instances: Note the Hagerman block, the Giddings block, the First National bank, the El Paso National bank, the Exchange National, the Robinson block, corner Huerfano and Tejon, and many other business blocks; besides the greater number of elegant and costly private residences built by invalids and which today would not have been in existence but for this class of residents.

Things We Have.

"We have the same climate, the same pure air, the same climatic inducements now, as when these improvements were made, and the progressive spirit is in the air. But since this era of desirable invalid immigration, other health resorts have sprung up, resorts not comparable in climatic or many other advantages to ours, but which through constant and persistent effort and advertising, have been the means of greatly deflecting from our doors this necessary class of citizens, until today we are not receiving one where formerly 100 came. Your committee feels convinced that this much to be regretted and undesirable result obtains through lack of proper advertising upon our part; but we have every reason to believe that by the use of combined and co-operative effort, new members of this class of helpful citizens will be induced to become residents and permanent citizens. In order to accomplish this result we deem it due the citizens whose aid we seek, and must have, to define the means we will pursue as to the advertising plan.

"First—We propose to insert full-page advertisements of our climatic and unusual attractions, from all standpoints, in the three leading weekly medical journals of the United States. The periodicals we have in mind have a bona fide circulation which reaches 70,000 to 80,000 medical men, the leading and representative men of the profession, physicians who daily have the opportunity of advising and sending patients from home to the proper climate for the recovery of health. It is proposed to keep before the eyes of these 80,000 practitioners an attractive advertisement every week of the year. Making a very low estimate, but for the sake of not overstepping bounds, let us suppose that 5 per cent of these 80,000 physicians send us one desirable invalid each, the result will be 4,000 added to our population in one year, or, at an estimate of 10 per cent, 8,000. To any fair-minded person this does not seem at all unreasonable, but rather a low estimate. In this advertisement we not only propose to bring prominently forward the climatic advantages to the doctors and through them to the invalid that we will endeavor to emphatically interest those who leave their homes and a sea level climate for a change of residence in higher altitudes. The importance of the sea level man coming to the mountains will undoubtedly appeal to the individual when properly presented, as we intend doing.

"Your committee also proposes to advertise the many other attractions of this vicinity, through booklets distributed on trains running over every line in the country, and also in prominent hotels and all other desirable public places. These booklets and advertising pages in some of the illustrated weeklies and illustrated magazines will be made as attractive as possible, and will dwell upon the scenic as well as the climatic charms. We will call attention to our hotels, street railway service, parks, lakes, drives, club life, the proverbial hospitality of our citizens, sites and inducements for manufactories, the summer and winter attractions for the tourist and people of leisure who leave home for pleasure, our scenic beauties, rivaling and surpassing those of the Swiss Alps, the mountain railways, the attractions and opportunities of the Cripple Creek gold fields, its easy access, possibility, steady production, etc., the Royal Gorge trip around the circle, Marshall Pass, Manitou, with its health-giving mineral waters and beautiful scenery, Pike's Peak, its ascent, the Ute Pass summer resorts, such as Cascade, Green Mountain Falls, Woodland Park, Manitou Park, and Broadmoor and its casino.

What Is Needed.

"To do all this, and all this must be done, if we intend to go forward instead of backward, if we wish to court prosperity, money must be raised. To carry out the work outlined, the sum of $10,000 is absolutely required. Certainly so small a sum for which to accomplish such large results should require but little effort to raise. Every business man and every citizen for each dollar subscribed to this absolutely necessary fund will receive from $50 to $100 in return. At the same time he is contributing not only to his individual prosperity, but to the practical upbuilding of his city, Colorado Springs, the pride and admiration not only of her children, but of every stranger who comes to her doors, a city which can, should, and shall be made the most beautiful and most attractive in the west.

"A committee will call upon our citizens for their subscription to this advertising fund and we believe every resident who has the welfare and prosperity of our community at heart will respond cheerfully and generously.

"B. P. Anderson, Chairman."

A regular meeting of the directors of the chamber will be held this evening, and a report will be made on the splendid results obtained by the advertising already inserted in the medical journals. Yesterday copies of the article written by Prof. J. P. [illegible] of Manitou on the geology of the Pike's Peak region were received from the printers, and a large bundle was immediately sent to Harvard university to be placed in the hands of the student geologists who will come to Colorado Springs in July. The pamphlet will also be distributed among all the colleges and universities of the country and among the delegates to the International Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Denver in July.

High School Chorus Will Give Annual Concert May 22

The fifth annual concert of the High school chorus will be given Friday evening, May 22, in the High school auditorium. This concert is one of the events of the school year and has been looked forward to by the students for many weeks. Admission will be strictly by invitation, tickets being issued to the members of the school for their friends. The chorus is composed of about 200 voices under the leadership of Professor A. O. Pearson, instructor in music for the High school.

Mrs. Fanny Alten Tucker, soprano, has been secured for the solo work. She will also sing with the chorus in one or two numbers. Miss Lois Parry is the accompanist for the chorus.

Prof. Pearson has not arranged the entire program but has decided upon several of the numbers to be sung. Among these will be "Gloria" from Mozart's "Twelfth Mass," "How Lovely Are the Messengers," from St. Paul, and "As Pants the Hart," from Spohr's "Crucifix on." A number of glees will also be sung.

The date of the annual concert of the High School Glee and Mandolin clubs has not been definitely decided upon, but it will probably be held on the evening of June 5.

ZITTLE [illegible] POLICE PROTECTION

The two railroad stations in Colorado Springs will have city policemen on guard this summer. A bill, which is fathered by the railroad companies and supported by the Colorado Springs Transfer company, comes up for passage at the meeting of the city council Monday night and it is said that it will pass without opposition. This will dispose of the dissatisfaction on the part of the companies following the withdrawal of the patrolmen last season. During the busy season, the rush of tourists makes compulsory the presence of a guard at the stations and heretofore, with the exception of last year, policing was furnished by the city. When these men were withdrawn the company employed its own men. Early this spring the movement was started by the railroads to have city police protection.

The bill now before the council authorizes the Santa Fe and Denver & Rio Grande railroad companies to have power to set aside a certain space at each station where hacks, carriages and other public vehicles must stand. To see that drivers of such vehicles in soliciting business live up to the regulations and provisions of the city ordinance, the city is required to place a policeman at the depot.

Another Raymond & Whitcomb excursion party is due in Manitou June 2. There are 75 people in the party. They will make their headquarters at the Cliff house, remaining in the vicinity nearly four days. The itinerary, like the others that have visited in Manitou, includes a visit to the summit of Pike's Peak by the cog road and a trip to Cripple Creek over the Short Line, besides the drives to the scenic points in the vicinity of [illegible].

But If You Have Kidney, Liver or Bladder Trouble, You Will Find The Great Remedy, Swamp-Root, Just What You Need.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the famous new discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

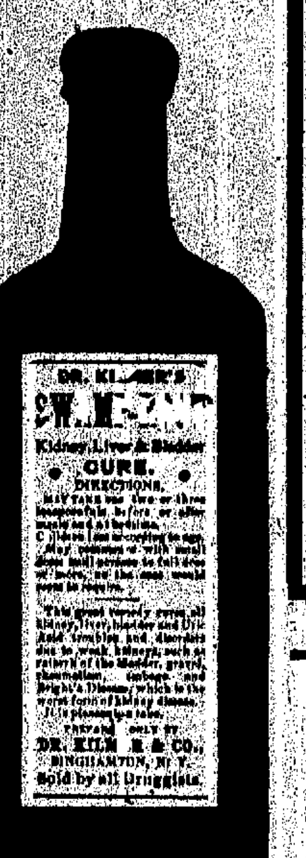

Doctors Prescribe Swamp-Root

Gentlemen:—I have prescribed that wonderful remedy for kidney and bladder complaints, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, with most beneficial effect and know of many cures by its use. These patients had kidney trouble, as diagnosed by other physicians, and treated without benefit. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root effected a cure. I am a liberal man and accept a specific wherever I find it, in an accepted school or out of it. For desperate cases of kidney or bladder complaint under treatment with unsatisfactory results I turn to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root with most flattering results. I shall continue to prescribe it and from personal observation state that Swamp-Root has great curative properties.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease, and if permitted to continue much suffering with fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable, makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles, makes your head ache and back ache, causes indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, makes you feel as though you had heart trouble, you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength, get weak and waste away.

(Swamp-Root is pleasant to take.)

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

No matter how many doctors you may have tried—no matter how much money you may have spent on other medicines, you really owe it to yourself to at least give Swamp-Root a trial. Its staunchest friends today are those who had almost given up hope of ever becoming well again.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root—Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Sample Bottle of Swamp-Root Sent Free by Mail

EDITORIAL NOTE—If you have the slightest symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble, or if there is a trace of it in your family history, send at once to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who will gladly send you by mail, immediately, without cost to you, a sample bottle of Swamp-Root and a book containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. Harriman, president of the Harriman lines, went through Ogden late tonight and continued on its journey from San Francisco to New York. This was the first time on record that a train has passed through Ogden without stopping at the union depot and was done at the request of President Harriman, who learned earlier in the day that a deputy United States marshal was awaiting his arrival in Ogden to serve papers on him in connection with the suit of the heirs of former Governor Durkee against the Central Pacific railroad involving something like $27,000,000.

ANOTHER EXCITING DAY IN NEW YORK COTTON MARKET

By Associated Press.

New York, May 13.—Tremendous excitement pervaded the cotton market this morning as a result of the sensational advance in Liverpool, which was about 10 to 16 points higher than had been expected. The local market started 18 to 27 points higher on the near months and 4 to 11 points on the late months under a rush of shorts to cover. The decline of yesterday had attracted sales and these sellers bought actively this morning. During the first few minutes prices were advanced a trifle further on some positions, but were almost weakened by a wave of selling for profits. This selling was encouraged by the indifference of New Orleans, favorable weather and fair receipts. The advance at Liverpool was attributed by cables to demand in the absence of selling and the strength of the spot situation. It was also thought that the operations of the local bull clique had been transferred to that market.

A GENUINE GUARNERIUS.

By Associated Press.

New York, May 13.—What experts say is probably a genuine Guarnerius violin was pawned in a shop in this city for $20. The pawnbroker says if the instrument is a Guarnerius it is worth $5,000.

It was pledged by a Hungarian violinist. The following inscription is discernible inside the instrument:

"Joseph Guarnerius, Fecit Cremonae, anno 1742. I. H. S."

The violinist said the instrument had been discovered three years ago by one of his pupils, James Beveridge, of Idaho, who was studying in Italy, among the effects of an Italian nobleman who had become bankrupt. Mr. Beveridge is said to have bought the instrument and to have given it to the violinist in appreciation of his instructions. It is the opinion of experts that there is but one other Guarnerius in New York. H. C. Havemeyer owns it and it was made in 1717, and is of much lighter color than the one in the pawnshop.

RAILWAY EXTENSION.

By Associated Press.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 13.—President F. M. Murphy of the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix, and the Phoenix and Eastern railways was here today and stated that the extension of the former line west from Congress to the Colorado river is one of the things practically decided upon. Numerous surveys have been made, he said, and it is probable that construction work will begin this fall. Track laying is now progressing on the Phoenix and Eastern in the vicinity of Mesa City.

DENVER'S CHARTER TROUBLES.

UNFORTUNATE Denver! If there ever was a community burdened with too much politics and too many politicians, Denver is distinctly entitled to that title.

When the Rush bill was being formulated, and while it was being passed in the legislature, its friends and promoters held forth the hopes that the city was to be freed from outside domination, from corrupt politicians and from gang rule of every kind.

When the charter convention was first talked of everyone said, "Now let us divorce politics from this and make up a convention of men and women without reference to their politics [illegible] as long as they are able, honest and devoted to the welfare of the city."

This [illegible] didn't last long. The contest speedily developed [illegible] of the worst kind, and the [illegible] came to the front with their cliques and factions, all struggling for control. Slates have been made, and slates [illegible], and within the last two days [illegible] amounting to a [illegible] riots and with all the worst features of Denver machine politics have been present in [illegible] gatherings called to [illegible] delegates for the convention.

[illegible] ably when the convention itself assembles politics will [illegible] in all its deliberations from beginning to end. If this were not the case, why these contests over delegates?

It is a great pity that Denver cannot have a charter convention without its politicians, especially when so much is to be done upon which the future welfare and prosperity of the city depend, so much that is entirely outside the domain of politics.

THE LATEST DISCLOSURES.

IT is difficult to speak with moderation concerning the disclosures which are being made from day to day in the office of the building inspector.

There seems no limit to the criminal carelessness and recklessness which has prevailed.

First it was the shortage in the collections actually made by the building inspector as evidenced by his books. Next it was shown in the failure to obtain permits for building; now it is the laxity with regard to the collection of water construction funds.

The whole matter is abominable and disgraceful, showing not only corruption but an absolute lack of supervision or inquiry. Everything was taken for granted and no questions asked.

Here is a task that may well engage the energies of every member of the new administration, for the wrong is deep seated and must be righted.

GOOD ROADS EXPERIMENTS.

THE [illegible] of this city is rendering a distinct service to the citizens through its experiments in road making.

It has already done a great deal in awakening public interest in the subject, and, fortunately, does not weary in well doing.

Its latest experiment is in the use of oil rock upon a section of one of the city streets. It will take [illegible] to determine whether or not the material will fill the requirements of a roadbed, and at the same time serve to keep down the dust.

However, it is proper and commendable that these experiments should go forward, until we may in the near future [illegible] at the best and cheapest method of constructing our public highways.

SUPPRESS THE PRIZE FIGHTS.

IT is not at all to the credit of Pueblo that it should permit prize fights to take place at an athletic club in that city.

Colorado Springs never has tolerated such exhibitions. Denver has now got to the stage of definitely prohibiting [illegible], and the only places that are left are Pueblo and a few of the mining camps of the state.

Each contest is thinly veiled under an announcement of a limited number of rounds, but it is very clear that a knockout is attempted from the very beginning. They have, in effect, every element of the prize fight.

Colorado is getting to a point [illegible] where it should take [illegible] among the enlightened states of the union in which [illegible] fights are prohibited.

THE WINTER NIGHT CLUB.

THE Winter Night club has [illegible] for the [illegible] after a [illegible] of helpful and instructive meetings. The meetings of the club have been well attended since the [illegible] of the [illegible] tion last winter.

[illegible]

[illegible] history of the [illegible] with [illegible] be [illegible].

PENNSYLVANIA [illegible] has [illegible] is by the action of [illegible] has vetoed [illegible] a [illegible] statement of his [illegible] for [illegible] the bill. He makes [illegible] point of the fact that the bill is [illegible] to protect men and women in private life as well as in public life. This may, however, be [illegible] as begging the question in view of the fact that there was ample opportunity under the old law for obtaining redress for any wrongs or unjust criticisms [illegible] upon persons in private life.

That there was apparently a great deal of doubt in the governor's mind as to the legality and advisability of the law is evident from the fact that he took 30 days in which to reach a decision.

There is reason to believe that Governor Pennypacker in considering this matter was not wholly unbiased and uninfluenced. He was vigorously criticised during his campaign, and [illegible] cartooned unfairly and injudiciously. It was proved that Senator Quay was deeply interested in the measure from the telegrams of indorsement and implied commands which he sent to various representatives. So, therefore, whether this measure is right or wrong, for the public interest or against it, it is certain that the law is a law through the instrumentality of those who were not free moral agents.

We are not of those who assume that a newspaper is necessarily right in everything that it does or says, or that a newspaper has unlimited right and license in the matter of printing news and making comment. Every well-regulated newspaper observes that its comments and [illegible] are within reasonable bounds, and that they have a reasonable foundation. A newspaper that is properly conducted is bound to take proper care both in the printing of its news and its comment thereon. It needs no restraining libel law for this particular purpose any more than an honest man needs a criminal law to restrain him from taking his neighbor's property.

The state of Pennsylvania has a few "yellow newspapers," but they are not in the ratio of one in ten. Such newspapers may have, in fact, have in some cases overstepped the bounds of propriety and fairness in their news, cartoons and editorials. This libel law endeavors to punish the nine for the purpose of restraining the tenth. If the law is sustained by the supreme court and its provisions are rigidly enforced, it will serve to suppress much matter that should properly be given to the public in the interests of decency, honesty and a proper administration of public affairs. The biggest boodler in the state may readily prove "mental distress" and secure damages because of the publication of his misdeeds.

It must be remembered also that in the state of Pennsylvania the newspapers have, perhaps, greater provocation to violent utterances than in almost any other state of the union. The people are ruled with an iron hand by a political oligarchy which makes every public office a private "snap," and which uses the people's money to line its own pockets and further its own selfish interests. Offices are farmed out to political favorites, franchises are given to inside rings without any regard whatever for the people's rights, and there is corruption and misrule from one end of the state to the other. It is little wonder, therefore, that the newspapers have grown somewhat violent and injudicious and use language that would be intolerable in better governed communities.

The population of New York city is said to be increasing at a rapid rate. No wonder, with thousands of immigrants pouring over the docks every week. The rest of the country may well beg to be spared from this sort of an increase.

Salvador, having agreed to submit a dispute with the United States to a board of arbitration and having been beaten, now, in truly Central American fashion, wants to go back on the verdict and open the case all over again.

Chairman W. W. Wood's account of funds expended for the reception of the president shows economy and prudence. He deserves the thanks of the people for doing his work so well.

An expert is at work arranging new systems of bookkeeping for the various city officials. It is good as far as it goes; he should also arrange a new system for turning in the money which belongs to the city.

The president in his laudable effort to make everyone feel prosperous is telling the Californians what great things are in store for them through the coming oriental trade.

State Press Comment

AN INCH AT A TIME.

Ten cents increase each month in the price of coal is not very serious in any one month, but as a settled policy of the coal monopolists it resembles cutting off a dog's tail an inch at a time so that it may not hurt the dog so much.—(New York World.

EVIDENTLY HE'S ALL RIGHT.

This man Folk of St. Louis continues to justify the opinion that he carries more common sense and discretion to the square inch than any other figure prominent in the public eye just now. His refusal of the tender of a house and lot from his admirers on the ground that he receives a salary for doing his duty is a reinforcement of this opinion.—(Chicago Chronicle.

THE NEXT VICE PRESIDENT.

Neither political party in the nation seems to be much concerned as regards its candidate for the vice presidency next year. The position in past times has not been very much sought, and really as it presents itself to the ambition of men, does not seem nearly as desirable as that of a seat in the United States senate. And yet its possibilities always great, have never been so impressively presented as they have at the present time. Within the space of 60 years five vice presidents have been called to the presidency, and the latest one of these appeared at the time of his election, as little likely to attain the higher office as any one who was ever put in the way of such preferment. With so many [illegible] on the street, and in view of the deaths of [illegible] so clearly in apparent vigor as were Garfield and McKinley, there would seem to be no need of urging the importance of selecting the next discretion for the vice [illegible] office hereafter; yet it is by no means certain that the requisite care will be taken on the subject when the parties make their nominations in 1904.—(Boston [illegible].

Roosevelt and Reed.

Thomas B. Reed was the center of a group at the Century club in this city the night before he was stricken with his last illness, relates the New York World. The talk got around to Roosevelt. "Y-a-a-s, I admire Roosevelt very much," drawled Mr. Reed. "I admire him very much, indeed. What I admire most about him is his enthusiasm over his discovery of the Ten Commandments."

Goff's Story.

Recorder Goff is telling a story of a brewer's agent who gave evidence the other day to show that a saloon, the license of which was objected to, had been a well-conducted place since the conviction of a former tenant, reports the New York Times.

"But was not that because the sword of Damocles was hanging over the place?" the agent was asked.

"No," he said with grave surprise, "no one of that name ever ran the saloon at all."

One Clergyman.

A prominent Episcopalian clergyman, who lives near Philadelphia and whose severe, clerical attire and smooth-shaven face frequently give rise to the belief that he is a priest of the Catholic church, is chuckling over an experience that befell him the other day. "I was going to the city," he said, "and seated directly in front of me in the train were a young Irish couple and a little child. The little one was very playful and peered roguishly at me over the back of the seat. From flirting with the little girl I got into a conversation with the parents and I noticed to my questions they would reply: 'Yes, father,' or 'No, father.' Finally the woman plucked up sufficient courage to remark: 'You seem very fond of children, father.' 'Of course I am,' I said. 'I have six of my own at home.' You should have seen them look at each other in horror."—(Orisha Bee.

Mistook the Symptoms.

The man comes home about an hour after the firemen have been summoned to his residence. The fire is out, but the front of the house is decked with broken furniture, rumpled carpets, disarranged bedding, pieces of cracked bric-a-brac, and smashed pictures. Surveying the scene for a moment, he goes into the house, meeting his wife in the hallway.

"I thought you weren't going to clean house until next week," he comments.—(Judge.

A Street Exhorter Who Willingly Took Hard Knocks.

There was a negro street exhorter in Maryville last week whose religion is proof against hard knocks.

"I'm one of God's cranks," he told people as they passed. "You all think I'm actin' foolish, but you'd act foolish too, if the Lord was to get hold of you."

Mayor Garrett apparently did not approve of this sentiment and ordered the man to end his sermon. He refused, and the marshal was called. He resisted arrest and the marshal hit him.

"Amen," shouted the preacher. The marshal hit him again.

"Hallelujah!" replied the evangelist, still pulling back. The marshal attempted to close his mouth, which called forth a triumphant "Praise the Lord."

Probably he would have been shouting yet, but he was offered the alternative of saying town or working 100 days on the rock pile. His soul, which was proof against blows, immediately succumbed to the threat of compulsory labor, and he "lit out."—(Kansas City Journal.

Asked a Chance.

"Farewell then," he cried melodramatically, "you will regret your refusal of my proffered love. I shall take to drink, and then—suicide!"

"Oh don't say that!" the fair girl pleaded.

"I am resolved," he said. "I shall not change my plans unless—"

"O change them just a little. I should hate to think I drove you to drink; try suicide first."—(Washington Star.

His "Line" Was Brains.

A professor of a western university tells this story of a trip he made:

"A traveling man boarded the train one day, took a seat beside me, and remarked:

"'Pleasant day, isn't it?'

"'Umph—yes.'

"Then the drummer said: 'Crops look fine, don't they? I guess we'll have a good season.'

"'Umph—yes.'

"By this time the travelling man was annoyed and asked: 'What line are you in, anyway?'

"Irritated at his continued importunities, I replied: 'Brains.'

"'Well,' said the drummer, 'you carry a mighty small sample case.'"—(Sunday School Times.

She Got the Best of It.

An unknown man and woman created a disturbance in front of the Blossom house about 9 o'clock last night. Evidently they were going through the city, and it was suspected that the husband had made a start for a Union avenue bar. It seemed also that about the instant he left the north side of the Union station his wife [illegible] his intention and intercepted him.

"Now, come back here," she said, striding after him as he emerged from the folding doors of the shack. At first he appeared undecided as to the most diplomatic move to make. Another "Come back here," as the woman grabbed his arm and turned him facing the depot. Then he made up his mind to "come back," and as he faced him about and gave him a push, he appeared satisfied to yield. He spoke not a word. The woman had outgeneraled him.—(Kansas City Journal.

If the Deacon Was Going to Heaven to Play a Harp and Sing.

In a small Missouri town there lives a good deacon, who, despite his harsh, hoarse voice, always joins vociferously in the singing at church. In the same town is a little boy who had become the proud possessor of a gorgeous string of profanity, which he is very fond of displaying. His mother, finding her arguments had no appreciable effect in expurgating from the youthful vocabulary the objectionable words, sent him to the deacon, in whom she has all confidence, to see if the latter could not put a stop to the swearing habit. That dignitary pictured to the boy the beauties of heaven in vivid language, and then told him that those who take the Lord's name in vain can never enter there. The boy pondered a moment.

"What do folks do in heaven, deacon?"

"Oh, play harps and sing."

"Are you going there to play harps and sing, when you die, deacon?"

"I hope to, son," replied the deacon, modestly.

"Then what's [illegible] like?" asked the boy earnestly, after some thought.—(Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Tailor-Made.

A tailor made a tailor-made,
And for it very well was paid.

Yet with his cotton, cloth and braid
He hid each jutting shoulder blade,
And wondrous plumpness she displayed.
Thus, with his splendid tailor-made
The tailor made a tailor maid.

THE LINER.

A wonder of size and force;
She is bound for a port that is far away,
And nothing shall change her course.

Changing her course, which is never sure,

Every New Yorker will be interested in Dr. Rainsford's story of his work in England and in this country, which is now running through several numbers of The Outlook. Indeed, anyone at all interested in city mission work would find it hard to stop after reading one installment. The magnetic force of the man, his love for all kinds of human beings, and his modesty over his personal attainments shine out clearly.

DEL. KIRKWOOD WILL ATTEND MEETING OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

A special train of delegates to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of North America will arrive in this city tomorrow night at 10:30. The party will reach Salt Lake City Saturday night, remaining there over Sunday. The delegates are from all parts of the east, the starting point being Philadelphia.

Rev. T. C. Kirkwood of this city will leave Monday for Los Angeles to attend the convention, although he is not a delegate. It is his custom, however, to attend as many of the national meetings as possible in order to keep in touch with the movements of the church.

OHIO MAN FIGURES THAT WOOLEN FACTORY WOULD BE PROFITABLE

Secretary Wray of the chamber of commerce is in receipt of a letter from Jackson, Ohio, people inquiring as to the inducements that might be offered for a woolen manufactory to locate here. The writer asks for information regarding the water power available, electrical facilities and other things necessary to the establishment of a factory. The writer believes this to be a good field for such a factory. There is a plentiful supply of the raw material in the state, all the wool raised being shipped to eastern points and sent back in manufactured goods.

The factory which is suggested would require an investment of something like $50,000. The pay roll would amount to $2,000 per month, if it is like the factory at Jackson and the plant would have a capacity of handling about 150,000 pounds of wool annually.

Samples of the different kinds of cloth manufactured at the Jackson establishment are inclosed in the letter. Secretary Wray will gather the statistics which are asked for and send the information at the earliest possible moment.

GIRL COMES WITHIN JURISDICTION OF THE JUVENILE COURT

The first girl to fall within the purview of the juvenile law was arrested yesterday and the unusual charge of incorrigibility placed against her in the county court. She appears on the records as Margaret L. Howel, 10 years of age, living in the neighborhood of the Curtis coal mines. The information against her is indorsed by Mrs. Henderson, who lives opposite the car barns on Tejon street, and Joseph B. Lyons, manager of the Premium Grocery Co. The details of her incorrigibility are not given, but it is understood that she is charged with having purloined several small articles from the Premium company.

She will come before Judge James A. Orr this morning to answer for her alleged waywardness. This will imply that she will be turned over to the care of Juvenile Officer L. H. Rouse, whose family of juveniles already numbers about 40, ranging in ages from 10 to 16, both black and white, but Miss Howell will be the first girl to report.

J. C. Spicer, the father of Arthur Spicer, who was reported to have attempted suicide at Kansas City Sunday night, has returned to Colorado Springs. He went to Kansas City on the call of his son's roommate. Mr. Spicer said yesterday that the story concerning his son's attempted suicide was without ground. He declared the boy had taken the chloroform to relieve a headache. Young Spicer has started on a tour of Kansas and Missouri, in company with M. T. Higgins as extra dentist.

BROWN ADVISES ACTION ... WOULD AVERT CATERPILLAR PEST

Returned Yesterday From Trip to Pike's Peak—Important Results May Attend Observations.

According to Expert John P. Brown, who returned yesterday from an investigation around Pike's Peak of the forests surrounding Lake Moraine and the city's water supply, Colorado Springs will again this summer be troubled with the caterpillar pest unless prompt measures are taken to stamp out the nuisance. To do this, Mr. Brown offers three remedies and calls upon the government and state authorities to assist the city in a warfare to be waged immediately in the aspen forests where the pest will start.

John P. Brown, secretary-treasurer of the International Society of Arboriculture, returned yesterday from his trip to Pike's Peak and relates as follows the results of his observations in regard to insects and the water supply.

"The aspens about Lake Moraine and along the water course have been greatly benefited by the efforts of the city authorities, a far less number of nests of eggs of the tent caterpillar were found than when the collections were made and cocoons burned last season, but the extent of the aspens is so great that but a small area could be covered by the workmen.

"The water system has been improved by clearing away the aspens close by the edge of the lake and by Ruxton creek.

"Evidently the men who did this clearing were from the state of Washington. Nowhere else in the world do they use ladders to cut the trees. Stumps remain which are five or six feet high. I cannot see any object in such unmechanical workmanship. Everywhere except as above stated the aspens are covered with nests of eggs, each nest having probably 200 eggs. When the leaves are half-grown these eggs will hatch and millions of young caterpillars commence to feed on the tender leaves. It will be difficult to combat them after they become half grown.

"Another defoliation of the trees, now weakened by two successive broods of worms, will kill most if not all of the deciduous trees of the Peak.

"I found eggs on some willows but these insects do not eat the leaves of the salix family.

"The cocoons from which the moths, or flying stage of the insects, had emerged when they went forth to deposit their numerous eggs, are still hanging to the rocks, bushes and stones. It does not matter much where the cocoons are placed since the flying insect will find the place to deposit eggs, but the eggs must be deposited where the young will readily find food, and none are found in the resinous coniferous trees.

Work Hard.

"There is no doubt but the city will have plenty to do again this season in keeping the worms out of the water. There are three methods by which these pests may be destroyed, and one of the methods must be speedily adopted if relief is expected.

"1. Collecting the cocoons in summer when found, or the nests of eggs at once and burning them, or, later, as soon as hatched, cutting off branches with the tiny insects and burning them.

"2. Spraying the trees as soon as the young insects begin to appear, with some good insecticide. Probably the cheapest form of Paris green or London purple is as good as anything, dissolved in water and kept well stirred.

"A power spray pump will be necessary. The Hammond slug shot is highly recommended in the east.

"No danger need be apprehended from using these substances, as the distance from the water courses is so great and the quantity used so small and so greatly diluted it cannot reach the water.

"This seems to be the most satisfactory solution of the question. All orchardists now know the necessity of spraying their trees if success is expected in fruit growing.

"3. The last resort will be to clear away all the aspens within the water shed, cutting all the trees close to the ground. Defoliation year after year, will kill the aspens. Cutting down the trees before the leaves start will not kill them, the young shoots in a few years will be as large as the largest now are. The great majority of the aspens in this vicinity are quite small, from an inch to three or four inches in diameter. In a few places some are six to eight inches, and these might be preserved and sprayed. By cutting the trees and bushes now, there would be nothing on which the young insects could feed and they would die.

"Of course, moths from other localities might in future invade the new growths, but it is to be hoped other people will see the necessity of some heroic action for their own benefit. The United States authorities and the state government should both do their part and not leave it entirely to the city to carry on such a warfare.

Expense Not Great.

"The expense to the city would not be excessive to buy a few millions young coniferous trees, plant a portion each year—having the remainder in a nursery for future use—and re-afforest this water shed with permanent spruce, fir, pine and valuable forest trees suitable for higher elevations."

Mr. Brown is at the Antlers hotel. Within a few days he will proceed to the south to examine for General W. J. Palmer, who is president of the International Society of Arboriculture, an immense tract of forest in the Tinchero land grant. As an expert in forestry Mr. Brown has a national reputation. He has paid much attention to Colorado Springs and vicinity and last year was asked to investigate and report on the caterpillar pest, and did so, suggesting the remedy. His trip to the city's water supply this week was made for the same purpose.

Mr. Brown asked what had become of the insecticide sent from New York to the horticultural society for trial last year. He states that more trouble will be encountered from the "white scale" pest on the shade trees of the city this summer. Some five pounds of insecticide was presented to the society with the hope that it would prove a remedy.

Mr. Brown referred to the Colorado Forestry association as an organization, which, although in its infancy, can be made a tremendous factor in the perpetuation of the forests.

"Everybody who is a householder should go out about this time of the year and plant a tree," said Mr. Brown. "The man who plants a tree doesn't always reap benefit from it, but some one else does. The expense to each person who has a lot 50x100 feet in Colorado Springs would be ridiculously small to the good obtained. Sugar maple is one of the best trees to plant for shade and decorative purposes, and they can be had for 35 cents each, good size and free from disease. The maple is not a slow grower as many people think. The Coloradoan hasn't been experimenting with anything but cottonwood and it is a mistaken idea to suppose that that is the only tree that will grow well."

Mr. Brown favors experiments with the oak in Colorado and it is probable something will be done on this line.

A Forest Fire Burning on Cheyenne Mountain Causes Alarm

A forest fire on the west slope of Cheyenne mountain and towards the summit created interest throughout the city yesterday and in the evening when the flames were plainly discernible as they traveled along the ridge. By midnight the fire had eaten its way down the west slope and disappeared from view. For a time during the early evening it was feared the fire would create havoc in one of the celebrated Cheyenne canons but the absence of wind served to confine the flames in a small space. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

It is too early for campers and the distance from the Short Line tracks is too great for the sparks from a locomotive to have started the blaze. The fire was high on the mountain side, what little wind there was in the afternoon drove it to the top ridge and along that in a southerly direction. As the wind went down there was a noticeable diminution of the strength of the fire and from the city it appeared as if it had burned itself out. Had there been a wind from the east it would have forced the flames westward through valuable timber owned by John B. Palgrove, and over the land of Charles Hancock, and possibly into South Cheyenne canon, following the old stage road which goes through the canon. Had it continued to appear threatening, property owners would have sent out a force of men to fight it.

Federated Trades Council Adopts Resolutions Pledging Its Support

At a meeting of the Federated Trades council, held last evening, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted, and Secretary Barndollar was directed to transmit the same to the joint executive board for organized labor at Denver under the seal of the local council. The resolutions will be forwarded this morning.

Whereas, The Citizens alliance of Denver, a combination of citizens formed for the purpose of disrupting trade unions and destroying organizations of laboring men formed for the purpose of raising wages, shortening the hours of labor, and ameliorating the conditions of workingmen generally, have by their aggressive and dictatorial action precipitated a disturbance which will injure business and create distrust among various classes of citizens, and

Whereas, We believe that the said alliance misrepresents the sober business sentiment of the business men of Denver, therefore,

Resolved, That the Federated Trades council pledges its moral support to those organizations which are battling for right principles, and be it further

Resolved, That on behalf of the various bodies of organized labor affiliated with this council we pledge the financial support of 3,000 members until said strike is brought to a successful termination.

Druggists of Three Towns Vote to Form an Organization

A meeting of the druggists of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou was held last night at the Alamo hotel for the purpose of organizing an association to be known as the El Paso County Pharmaceutical association. This was the first meeting of the kind ever held in the county. F. H. Arcularius acted as chairman, and appointed a committee consisting of Dr. C. E. Smith, W. G. Taylor and Henry G. Cotton to promote the organization and call a meeting within the next two weeks. The matter was fully discussed by the 15 druggists present and the general sentiment was in favor of organizing. The association will be affiliated with the National Association of Retail Druggists.

After the business of the meeting was transacted a social time was enjoyed and a lunch served. Those present were F. H. Arcularius, G. Emil Chalquest, O. Parker, J. K. Miller, Dr. C. E. Smith, R. T. Godfrey, William G. Taylor, William Lennen, Otto Fehringer, James Brigham, Henry G. Cotton, J. H. Harrison, ... L. Gutmann, R. H. Hefley and Adolph Fehringer.

MINORITY WANT RECORDS IN GOLDEN CYCLE CONTROVERSY PRODUCED IN THE COURT

Preparations are being made for the coming battle of the stockholders of the Golden Cycle company, which opens in the district court Tuesday morning. An application was filed by the minority stockholders with the district clerk yesterday asking that subpoenas duces tecum be issued for the appearance of A. A. Rollestone of Teller county, H. McGarry of El Paso county, John F. Doyle, L. E. Ross-Lewin, John T. Milliken, Tyson S. Dines and E. C. Colburn of Arapahoe county and Scott Ashton, H. H. Clark and Charles del Bondio of Teller county.

The application for the subpoenas recites that the persons named in the application have in their possession certain records and documents which are needed in the trial of the case and asks that they be commanded to appear in court and bring the documents with them. These documents consist of the minutes of the meetings of the board of directors, the treasurer's books and other papers bearing on the question in controversy.

From the filing of this application on the part of the minority stockholders, it is evident that they expect to proceed at once with the trial of the suit. Nothing new has yet been heard from the majority stockholders. As has been stated before, the minority stockholders claim that the majority have been misusing the funds of the company and on the allegations contained in their complaint they ask that a receiver for the company be appointed and an accounting of the affairs of the company be ordered.

It is not yet known which judge will hear the case. The ruling of Judge Seeds, which in effect disqualified him, leaves it to be tried by either Judge Cunningham or Judge Lewis. There is no order in the selection of the trial judge and it all depends on who may be occupying the bench when the docket is called.

Two more rooms are reported as having been furnished yesterday at the Y. M. C. A., room 16 by Mrs. Wyncoff and Clara and room 20 by Mrs. Smith.

An "Old-Fashioned entertainment" for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the auditorium at 8 o'clock this evening.

REBEKAHS—Monte Rosa lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah, will meet in regular session this evening. Visiting members invited.

PRIZE DRILLS OF A. O. U. W. RESULT IN DENVER LODGE WINNING FIRST PRIZE

Longmont's Team Is Judged Second and Central City Third Place—Banquet Tonight Will Close Convention.

The prize drill held yesterday afternoon in Odd Fellows hall by the grand lodge assembly of the Ancient Order of United Workmen was the feature of the day's program. The degree teams from Denver lodge, No. 19, Longmont lodge, No. 9, and Central City lodge, No. 1, entered the competition and the prizes were awarded in the order named. The first prize, which was won by Denver, No. 19, was $100, to which was added $25 by R. H. Malone, grand foreman-elect. Longmont's prize consisted of $60 and the Central City lodge received $40 as the third prize. The percentages were 97.1, 95.3, and 94.1 respectively.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: Past grand master, J. W. Shreve of Cripple Creek; grand master, E. S. Abbott of Denver; grand foreman, R. H. Malone, Denver; grand overseer, M. F. Kelleher of Central City; grand recorder, Charles N. Miller of Cripple Creek; grand guide, L. G. Morse, Pueblo; grand medical examiner, Dr. S. H. Dodds, Pueblo; grand receiver, F. F. Hawk, Pueblo; grand trustee, J. J. Herrold, Victor; supreme representatives, A. E. Pierce and S. S. Abbott of Denver and T. P. Moore of Canon City. The supreme representatives will attend the meeting of the grand lodge at Minneapolis June 9.

The election of officers of the Degree of Honor will take place today.

The work of the degree teams consisted in exemplifying the initiatory ceremonies and doing the floor work in that connection. Immediately after the announcement of the winners the money was paid over by Past Supreme Master Workman Harwick.

One of the pleasant incidents of the session yesterday was the presentation to Grand Master Abbott by the grand lodge, of a beautiful chest of silverware, valued at $450. The presentation was made by R. H. Malone, who spoke feelingly of the work done by Mr. Abbott in the past and offered the gift as an expression of the good will for the future. On the case was a gold plate bearing an inscription, "Presented to Grand Master Abbott by the Grand Lodge of Colorado."

After the prize drills the assembly took up routine matters which consisted principally of the revision of the bylaws of the grand lodge. Many changes are to be made and the evening session was devoted almost entirely to these matters. It is expected that a part of the morning session today will be taken up by the revision. In the afternoon and evening the sessions will complete the business of the lodge and install the officers elected for the coming term. Following the installation ceremonies will be the banquet to be given at the Alamo hotel by the A. O. U. W. and the Degree of Honor of Colorado Springs to the grand lodge officers and delegates. Before the banquet there will be dancing at Odd Fellows hall and a general social time will be indulged in.

R. H. Taylor, grand receiver will pay all officers and delegates their per diem and mileage in cash immediately at the close of today's session, at the local lodge rooms.

The report of Grand Receiver Taylor made yesterday showed that he has paid out during the two years of his incumbency in office the sum of $390,994.17 to beneficiaries, $40,980.87 from the guarantee fund and $40,011.03 from the general fund. He will send out checks today to $4,000 in payment of death benefits.

The morning session yesterday was devoted to the election of officers and to listening to the address of Past Supreme Master Workman A. C. Harwick who arrived early in the morning on a belated Rock Island train. Degree of Honor session yesterday was spent in the discussion and adoption of rules to be used in governing the body. No session was held in the afternoon but all attended the prize drill.

POPEJOY IS ALLOWED BY THE BOARD OF ARBITRATION ONE-TENTH OF CLAIM

The board of arbitration in the matter of the claim of Leslie W. Popejoy against the board of county commissioners reached a conclusion last night at 12:30. As a result of its deliberations it is understood that Popejoy has been awarded a sum in the neighborhood of one-tenth of the total amount of his claim.

The total amount of the claim was for $9,600, and upon the basis of the award of the arbitrators Popejoy will receive in the neighborhood of $960.

The arbitrators considered, in addition to claims for "extras," the matter of the unpaid balance still due under the terms of the contract, and their award directs that this shall be turned over to Popejoy. This amount had not been paid on account of the claim for extras, but with the determination of this matter the amount will be paid Popejoy by the direction of the arbitrators.

This award puts an end to the long dispute between Popejoy and the county commissioners and closes up the contract for work on the construction of the new court house with the exception of the contract for carpenter work, which is not yet completed. Popejoy did the plastering of the new building, and during the progress of the work many complaints were made as to the manner in which it was being done, and the safety of the work when completed. The appointment of a committee is now under consideration by the county commissioners, to make an investigation into the work and report its findings.

The board of arbitrators was completed yesterday by the selection of Joseph E. Dozier and the board took up the work devolving upon it shortly after noon. It remained in session, exclusive of an adjournment for supper, until 12:30 this morning, when the signatures of the members were affixed and the matter came to an end. The full report of the findings will be made to the county commissioners this morning and will show the exact amount of the award.

Mr. Edbrooke, the commissioners' representative on the board, will return to Denver this morning. The necessity for his doing so caused the board to finish its work before adjournment last night.

Lieut. Col. Wheeler Will Inspect Companies B and I Tonight

This evening occurs the inspection of the two local companies of the Colorado National guard preparatory to the change in equipment recently ordered by the war department under the provisions of the Dick bill. Lieutenant Colonel Wheeler of the Tenth infantry will inspect the companies, assisted by Inspector General Goss of the Colorado National Guard. Lieutenant Colonel Wheeler and Inspector General Goss are expected to arrive in the city this morning.

This evening battalion drill will be held at the armory and after a short drill the equipment will be inspected. It is thought that the new equipment will be received in time for the fall maneuvers at Fort D. A. Russell in Wyoming. Krag-Jorgensen rifles are to be substituted for the Springfields now in use, and other changes are to be made. Lieutenant Colonel Wheeler and the other inspecting officers will make their reports immediately after the inspection in order that the department may be able to bring about the proposed changes in time for the maneuvers.

WILL CONTRACT FOR PLUMBING AND HEATING

Brother Adrian of the Franciscan order of St. Louis, who is superyising architect of the new addition to St. Francis hospital, is expected to arrive in the city this morning. He is en route to his home from a trip to California. It is expected that the contract for the plumbing and heating work to the new addition to the hospital will be let today or tomorrow. There are four bids submitted for the work. Work on the new addition is progressing rapidly.

JUDGMENT ASKED ON THE PLEADINGS

In the case of P. J. O'Hara against the Portland Gold Mining company judgment is asked by the defendant on the face of the pleadings. In the complaint O'Hara asks for damages to the amount of $15,000 for injuries alleged to have been received in the employ of the defendant company. The answer of the company admitted the fact of the injury but pleaded that the plaintiff had known of the danger when he entered the employment and therefore accepted the risks. It was further pleaded that he had not given the notice of 60 days required by statute in case of defective machinery. A replication was filed by the plaintiff in which he admitted that he had not given the notice but denied all other allegations. The motion of the defendant company follows by asking for judgment upon the pleadings without the necessity of introducing any testimony.

DELEGATES PASS THROUGH HERE TODAY

The first special train of delegates to the Master Plumbers' convention to be held in San Francisco next week will pass through this city this morning. The party will arrive at an early hour and depart at 8 o'clock. The train brings delegates from Kansas City. The delegation from Chicago will arrive in Colorado Springs tomorrow night and will leave Friday morning at 10:29 over the Denver & Rio Grande. Both parties will stop off at Salt Lake for a few hours. It is expected that there will be about 700 on the special trains in addition to those who are travelling on regular trains.

REHEARSAL OF "TEMPLE OF FAME"

The rehearsal of the spectacular entertainment "The Temple of Fame," which is to be given in the opera house on Friday evening, passed off very satisfactorily last night. Those who saw it spoke in the highest terms, pronouncing it unique and delightfully entertaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jennings are giving such valuable assistance, are rehearsing daily for the summer opera soon to open in this city. Miss ... is one of the Jewish maidens accompanying Mrs. Garrison, the fever soprano, who enacts the part of Miriam, the prophetess. Others in the ... Mesdames C. C. Hamlin, F. L. Ballard, Misses Josephine Garrison, Anna M. Linderfelt and Fannie Rouse. A dance of much spirit and grace is rendered, appropriate singing and tamborine accompaniment.

Mrs. Margaret Custer Norton, a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston, as Cleopatra, gives her lines with classic grace, while she makes a beautifully regal appearance.

Miss Harriet Brooks, the well-known elocutionist, rehearsing Shakespeare's claims, appearing as Portia, attended by Nerissa. Evidently Miss Brooks is a favorite with the cast, from the applause she received at the rehearsal. Indeed, everybody applauded everybody's efforts in a whole-souled way good to witness.

O. L. Burch of the Henager Business college, is admirable in his Irish specialties, and Miss Katie Selzer, an elocutionist who has lately come to this city, is an inimitable Bridget Malony. One of the very effective numbers is Mrs. E. H. Selt... impersonation of Alice Cary. She renders one of Miss Cary's best loved poems set to music, one that has become a universal favorite.

The character of Uncle Tom by Mr. ... gives opportunity for the display of his superior ability as an actor and vocalist, while Charles H. ... as Sambo repeats former triumphs in local minstrel shows, and does a cake walk with Topsy. Miss ... Lowther. And sings and dances in true plantation style. Little Eva, ... White in and Miss Opie in. Miss Lillian ... complete the group.

As Helen of Troy, Mrs. W. H. Stote presents an ideal conception of that illustrious woman, and a scene from Tennyson's "Princess" is one of the gems of the evening.

WORK OF THE GRAND JURY

The grand jury continued in session throughout yesterday, sitting till late in the afternoon. So far as the sheriff's office was concerned it was a light day as subpoenas for only four witnesses were issued. The jury is finishing up those large matters before it which are in an almost completed condition, only lacking in several cases the evidence of one or two witnesses. No attempt will be made to take up those matters that will properly come before a new grand jury, the jurors realizing that their term of existence as a jury is too short to permit them to give a full hearing to the charges.

CHILD LABOR BILL.

By Associated Press.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 13.—Governor Pennypacker today signed the child labor bill and vetoed the other three miners' bills. The child labor bill makes it unlawful to employ children under 16 years of age in and about the mines.

The three bills vetoed were the eight-hour day bill, the bill providing for the payment for coal mined by the ton of 2,240 pounds and the mine inspection bill.

JEWISH MASSACRE.

By Associated Press.

St. Petersburg, Tuesday, May 12.—Additional details of the Kishenieff massacre of Jews are printed here daily. The correspondent gives the number of victims thus far buried in the Jewish cemetery at 45 and say that 86 persons seriously wounded are still in the Jewish hospital. The horrors reported scarcely bear repetition. In one instance spikes were driven through a woman's head in the floor until cases of body mutilation have been authenticated. About 800 to 1,000 persons were arrested, an energetic official having been sent from Odessa to deal with the situation. The apathy of the local authorities during the two days of rape and murder appears to have been fully established.

INVITING ALL THE COUNTY TO HELP CELEBRATE

The Opening of the New Court House.

Commissioners Send Out Notice of Festivities—Governor Peabody Will Not Attend, but Staff Is Coming.

The county commissioners are endeavoring to secure as large an attendance of townsmen as possible at the formal opening of the new county court house. Posters containing an announcement of the celebrations have been sent to all the postmasters in the county with the request that they give them to those who receive mail at their office. These placards are as follows:

THE COURT HOUSE
Will Be Thrown Open to Visitors
Saturday Afternoon, May 16,
From 2 to 5 p. m., and in the
Evening from 7 to 10.
GOV. PEABODY AND STAFF
And Other Invited Guests Will Be in Attendance.
EVERYONE INVITED.
Midland Band Both Afternoon
and Evening.

The announcement on the posters that Governor Peabody will attend the celebrations is erroneous, as he has notified Sheriff Gilbert that pressing business will prevent his leaving Denver on Saturday. The attendance of Lieutenant Governor Haggott and of the governor's staff, however, is assured, and the county commissioners are hoping that the failure of the governor to be present will not affect the attendance of a good crowd. No new arrangements have as yet been announced and the committees heretofore mentioned are at work perfecting the plans agreed upon.

There are at least 10,000 residents of the county outside of the city and the sending out of the posters is done for the purpose of making them acquainted with the date of the celebration. A great many of these ranchmen live from 10 to 40 miles from the city and the posters are being sent out early so that they will be able to start soon enough to reach the city in time for the celebration.

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

DR. PIERCE'S MESSAGE.

The Secret of Woman's Beauty.

"The secret of a woman's beauty is not to be found in her dressing room or in the use of cosmetics, as cynics might intimate," says Max O'Rell, "but lies in abundant health and a cheerful mind."

"The beauty of a woman's face or figure is but the external sign of the good health within," says Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, the specialist in women's diseases. Further, to be happy and beautiful one must naturally have good health. Now, if a woman has dragging-down feelings, together with constantly returning pains and aches, a too great drain upon her vitality and strength, she will never look beautiful. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, all result from those disorders peculiar to women, and the only way to effect their cure is to strike at the source of the difficulty. In the first place a woman should know thoroughly her own system, and this is easily acquired knowledge, for there are a number of good doctor books on the market. "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," has perhaps been read more largely than any other, for it is now in its sixty-first edition, having printed nearly two million volumes.

Anyone can obtain this book by sending twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps for the paper-bound book, or thirty-one cents for the cloth-bound book, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WHY WOMEN SHOULD CONFIDE IN A MAN.

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. It is said that loyalty is usually lacking in the feminine make-up. Without a perfect understanding there can be no helpful advice, and not one woman in ten places implicit confidence in her own sex. The consciousness of her own weakness puts her on guard against the failings of all other women. In the same way a woman hardly feels like confiding her womanly troubles her weakness due to diseases essentially feminine —to a woman. That is probably why women do not usually succeed as physicians. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ills and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for any woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y. All correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

SINGLE AND MARRIED WOMEN

Very often find that it is repugnant to their feelings to consult their family physician. In such a case they can put perfect confidence in Dr. Pierce, who has made such a success in the treatment of women's diseases, for he will give the very best advice possible and without cost. To grow beautiful healthy and happy should be the desire of every woman. It is then possible to hold a husband and to make some happy and bring contentment to it. In most cases Dr. R. V. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will fit the needs and put the body in healthy condition.

So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer

A $500 REWARD

For women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health, by curing the local womanly diseases which are generally responsible for the failure of the general health. A woman's entire being is centered in her womanly nature. When the delicate womanly organism is attacked by disease, when there is irregularity or a disagreeable drain, when inflammation burns and ulcers gnaw, the general health will reflect the progress of disease, in increasing weakness, nervousness, backache, headache, loss of appetite and sleeplessness.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all these ailments, and cures them perfectly and permanently. It wipes out the record of suffering as a child wipes a sum from a slate. It makes the woman feel like a new woman, and look like one, because it rounds out the form and restores the healthy color to the face.

REGARDING NEW TELEPHONE CO.

Owing to the absence from the city of Alderman R. J. Verner, it is probable that the hearing on the bill providing for the granting of a franchise to the Citizens' Telephone company will come before the entire membership of the council Monday afternoon. Mr. Verner has been in the east for several days and will not return until Sunday and the meeting of the ordinance committee to which the matter was referred, has been postponed on that account. The committee was to have held a meeting tonight and it had been agreed that President St. John would take the place of Mr. Verner on the committee. Owing to press of business, however, he would have been unable to attend the meeting and it was called off.

Chairman John Hill of the ordinance committee said yesterday that Mr. Verner would stop at Pittsburg, Pa., during his trip to the east and make a personal investigation of the double system of telephones now operating in that city. The report which he will make to the council members meeting as a committee of the whole will probably influence their action. The representatives of the Colorado Telephone company and of the new organization will also be present at the meeting and the question will be gone over before the regular meeting of the council is called to order. It is expected that the contest between the two companies will be a bitter one, as the feeling shown at the last meeting gave indications that both sides would fight to the finish.

As agreed upon at the last meeting of the council, the bill will come up for a final vote Monday night.

MISS BRIMLEY'S READ PAPER ON CRIME

The last meeting of the Social Science department of the Woman's club was carried out yesterday exactly as outlined in the calendar nearly a year ago. It has really been a revelation in the businesslike methods of women, the accuracy with which the club proceedings have been carried along.

Mrs. Scott, chairman of the department, presided and Miss Ellen T. Brimley gave the paper, "Crime." Miss Brimley's able dissertation on "The Prevention of Crime," "Juvenile Courts," "Punishment and Reformation," "Penal and Reformatory Institutions," "Cumulative and Indeterminate Sentences," "Pardoning Systems," and "The Ex-Convict," was listened to with marked attention and an animated and instructive debate followed.

Among those participating were Mesdames Bolly, Scott, Kerr, Sinton, Farrar and others. Prevention of crime through careful training of the children, beginning in the kindergartens, was advocated in the strongest terms. Study diligently the source of crime and then apply prevention by the best methods.

Those studying these questions conclude that crime multiplies faster than the population, for the inventions, such as the telegraph, telephone, etc., multiply the ways of crime. Intelligence does not mean good character, as the proportion of crime among the so-called "first people" is alarmingly large. The duties of the probation officers and police matrons were talked of.

Testimony was given as to the influence the club had been able to exert in municipal affairs, and the chairman, Mrs. Scott, complimented the members, speaking of them as most intelligent, capable and loyal.

Before separating for the summer a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Scott for able guidance of the department. Adjournment was taken until Wednesday, September 9.

So Sweet and Pleasing in Taste.

Mrs. C. Peterson, 625 Lake street, Topeka, Kans., speaking of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, says: "It has never failed to give entire satisfaction, and of all cough remedies, it is my favorite, and I must confess to my many friends that I will do, and has done, what is claimed for it—to speedily cure a cough or cold; and it is so sweet and so pleasing in taste. 25c, 50c and $1 bottle at Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

[illegible] VISITORS [illegible]

McBride's Men [illegible] Win [illegible] from Kansas City.

Locals Come in at the Finish with a Score of 4 Against 3 —Third Game of the Series Today.

Yesterday's game was the thirteenth to be played by the Millionaires. Yesterday was the 13th of May and May has 31 days and there were about [illegible] people on the grounds, but all of these combinations of the unlucky number had no effect upon the locals as they won from Kansas City. It was another case of pulling out of a hole yesterday. Francks' direction which could have easily been made a home run, helping in Fleming and scoring the winning run in the last half of the ninth after two men were out. "Kid" Nichols himself, the invincible "Kid," opposed Jones on the slab. For the first four innings Nichols pitched an excellent game, allowing but one hit during that time, but he weakened and was touched up for one double and two triples, in addition to Francks' hit and a bunch of [illegible].

Jones was hit for extra bases but twice and also did good box work. At the bat he had Nichols far outclassed, getting two nice hits, one of them a triple. By winning yesterday's game the locals put Jones to the head of the list of local pitchers. Jones has pitched four games and has not lost one.

Wretched Fielding.

[illegible] fielding of the men from the banks of the Kaw was the worst ever. It was simply rank. The Nicholsites would make wild throws and miss flies so fast that there was difficulty in keeping track of them. All the time Nichols would stand by and think, perhaps, of what a substitution he had made with this year's lobsters for last year's pennant winners. The Kansas City team can never expect to win games in Colorado [illegible] if they do not take a brace in fielding. The locals were in their usual form in the field. Swacina, in particular, who went in for Lumley, did great work in center field, making several star running catches. Everitt also made a good stop of Streib's hot grounder in the fifth.

Kansas City started in with a determination to win, evidently, for they scored in the second. Streib beat out a bunt and went to second while Weeks was going out at first. Messitt was [illegible] for a single and Streib scored [illegible]. Webster and Ritchie fanned. In the third Ketcham hit safely but died at first and Jones to Francks, M[illegible] and Waldron expired at first and [illegible], respectively, as the result of a neat double play, Nill to Everitt to Francks. In the fourth the [illegible] got an [illegible] tally. Webster got a pass after Kahl flew to Fleming. Webster [illegible] second on Streib's out and a hit by Weeks brought him in. Waldron doubled in the fifth but [illegible].

Nichols' [illegible].

All this time the Moneyed Men had been busy trying to solve Nichols' twisters. Only one man, "Shorty" Nill, having succeeded in getting a safe one. In the second and third the locals got bases on errors. In the second Milton dropped one sent by Congalton right into his mitt and in the third Streib juggled Doran's easy one. A wild relay by Webster allowed Doran to take second. In the fifth Lewis [illegible] Congalton hit safely. An error by Waldron in improperly fielding the ball allowed Doran to get to second. He came home later on Fleming's out, scoring the first run for the Wealthy Boys.

With this for a starter, Congalton doubled in the sixth after Swacina had retired. Everitt came forward with a three-sacker at this moment and Congalton galloped. Nill singled and Everitt crossed the rubber. This netted two runs and put us one to the good. In the seventh Fleming walked and involved himself liable to prosecution by [illegible] the second sack. Jones was on third, having reached that station by means of a three bagger, but one man was out and Francks and Swacina both died at first.

Some good ball playing kept the score where it was until the ninth. When the former pennant winners came to the bat Streib hit safely. Weeks knocked a three-sacker that brought in Streib and tied the score. Messitt, Nichols and Ketcham could do nothing and the score was still a tie when the Morganites took the center of the stage. Doran promptly struck out, due to a slight degree to Umpire Jack McCarty. Jones hit safely but was put out later at second. Nichols showing some good head work. The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Fleming to take first, but in trying to make a double Weeks threw wild and Fleming reached second. Francks then came to the bat and in [illegible] way of [illegible] hit the [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] for the [illegible] [illegible] still have [illegible] [illegible] still hunting for the [illegible] [illegible] had left for the city. A [illegible] [illegible] 1,800.

GEORGE GARDNER WAS GIVEN THE DECISION

By Associated Press.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—George Gardner was given the decision over Marvin Hart at the end of the twelfth round in their fight before the Southern Athletic club tonight. Hart, at the end of the twelfth claimed that his right hand had been broken and gave up the fight. Hart put up a good, strong fight, but Gardner was much faster and landed oftener. Both were very weak at the finish. The fight was to have gone 20 rounds at catch weights. Hart weighed 178 pounds, Gardner 161.

It was still anybody's fight in the twelfth, in spite of the fact that Gardner was the cleverer. He hit Hart as often as he desired but his blows lacked steam. Hart surprised the crowd by claiming a broken right hand and his seconds threw up the sponge.

Hart was [illegible] battered up about the face, while Gardner was unmarked.

ST. JOSEPH SHUT OUT BY GRIZZLIES

Denver Had Things Going Her Way.

First Game of Series Was Exciting Throughout but St. Joe Failed to Secure the Runs

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, May 12.—The game here this afternoon between St. Joe and the Grizzlies ended in a complete shut out for the visitors, the home team winning by the score of 7 to 0. A washout on the railroad delayed the St. Joseph players in getting here, so there was no game yesterday. Although the fates apparently ordained that the St. Joe bunch was booked for a defeat, they put up a good game and it was only after hard work that the Cubs defeated them. There was good fielding and pitching on both sides, but there was nothing impressively spectacular in the batting line.

Gaston played in Radcliffe's place and Kelley umpired the game, instead of McCarty. Maher opened for St. Joe and put a hot fly into McHale's hands. Hartman followed with a single, and Belden went out. Rohe gave up the ghost on a foul. The Cubs took turns wielding the stick, but were evidently still a little sore from the whipping administered by the Millionaires. Delehanty, Mohler and Jones were put out before they could get to first.

A Close One.

The second nearly proved good for the St. Joe boys. Kemmer reached first, but when McBride drew a single, Kemmer was put out. Crum reached first and Garvin hit a pretty one, but it wasn't good enough to phase Mohler, whose work retired the side. Frisk came to the bat and wielded the willow with his usual skill, but the visitors' short did some good work that retired Frisk from triumphantly holding down first. Gus Dundon met with Frisk's fate, making two men out. McHale was the other player necessary to retire the side.

In the third inning Diehl struck out and Maher almost proved the redeeming feature with his lively drive. He went out, however, before he reached first. Hartman made a single and Belden was the third man out. Gaston went out, but Schiel's hit was good for second base, the first two-bagger during the game. After Whitridge's out, Delehanty did some excellent work, but Hartman caught a beautiful one that Del put far over in center field.

In the fourth, Rohe was the first out, Kemmer second, but McBride fared a trifle better—he walked. Crum's single put McBride on second, but Garvin spoiled the prospects by striking out. The Cubs came up for their half and Mohler walked. Chuck Jones moved him up a sack, because Pitcher Diehl hit him with the ball. Frisk's intended sacrifice put a man on each base and Gus Dundon brought Mohler and Jones home, Frisk going out. McHale's single drove Dundon in from second and McHale made third on Kemmer's error and scored on Gaston's long fly. Schiel's out ended it for the Grizzlies, the score at the end of the inning standing 4 to 0.

Again on Defensive.

In the next Diehl struck out, Maher flew out and Hartman was put out trying to reach first base. Whitridge believed that sparing the rod would spoil the child, so he hit the horsehide a lick that made a hot one for Shortstop Maher. Maher, however, was too good for him and Whitridge went out. Delehanty drew a single, and Mohler's out put him on second. Then Jones put put the Cubs again on the defensive, but the next inning proved easy. It was one, two, three and out, Belden, Rohe and Kemmer going out in the order they came to bat. Then McHale made a single. Frisk and Dundon were out when Gaston came to bat. He along with the majority, going out also. McBride sent the horsehide over in left field and scored a single. Crum went out and McBride reached second on Garvin's single. Diehl went out on a lovely fly, leaving the two men on bases to die a miserable death. In the seventh the home team scored up another run. Schiel went out, but Whitridge safely reached first and made second on a wild throw. Mohler walked. Whitridge came over the plate on Jones' hit, and Frisk retired the side. In the eighth the St. Joe boys could not do a thing, so it was left to the Cubs to chalk up some more runs. McHale was on second and Gaston first when Schiel singled. This moved McHale up a peg, but Gaston went out. Whitridge made a two-bagger, reached third on an error and drove McHale and Schiel home. In the ninth the visitors fared no better than during the rest of the game, and the Denver team did not play their half of the inning.

COLORADO EXCELS IN THE GAME

Tigers Lose Game With Golden.

Defeat Attributed to Rowdyism of School of Mines Rooters, and College May Protest the Game.

The Colorado College Tigers went to Golden yesterday morning and returned last night without the scalps they expected to have at their belts. The Golden Miners won their last game of the local of the intercollegiate season by a score of 12 to 11 in a 10-inning game. Up to the sixth inning the College boys had the Miners shut out and had seven runs to the good. After that their luck turned. Hester weakened after pitching an excellent game and a bunch of hits, coupled with a bigger bunch of errors, lost the Tigers the day.

The local players claim rowdyism had a great deal to do with their defeat. In the ninth the score was 11 to 8 in favor of the College team, and, seeing that the game was hopeless, or apparently so from their standpoint, the Golden rooters swarmed down on to the diamond, it is said, exploding dynamite, ringing bells, blowing horns and even interfering with the fielders when they attempted to get the ball. Two sticks of dynamite were exploded in center field. This put the College boys up in the air and the Goldenites managed to get another run in the last half of the tenth and win the game. The game may be protested by Manager Von Nostran when the Intercollegiate Baseball league meeting is held in the fall to award the pennant.

Up to the ninth and tenth innings, the College boys had played a good game but even with a few errors had outclassed their opponents.

There remain four games yet to be played, one with Boulder, one with the Aggies and two with the Denver university. The score:

LUMLEY KEPT OUT OF THE GAME

Acting upon instructions received yesterday morning from President Sexton of the Western league, Manager Burns did not play Harry Lumley at center field yesterday afternoon and Swacina appeared in the center garden. As was announced in these columns Sunday morning, Lumley is claimed by the St. Paul team of the American association. Manager Lennon of that team asserts that Lumley is still under reserve to play with his team and it is pending the decision of the national board on the local club's right to hold the player, that the orders were received keeping Lumley out of the game. Manager Burns does not believe that Lennon stands any show of getting Lumley and will make every effort to keep him here. Swacina, who substituted for Lumley, did good work at center, so that the team will not be weakened any by Lumley's enforced vacation.

An Epidemic of the Grip.

"There has been a great epidemic of the grip in this vicinity for the past two months," says W. D. Wilcox of Logan, N. Y. "All of my customers that I could induce to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy were cured without the aid of a doctor; only two employed a doctor and they did not use this remedy. They could have saved money by using it." Money is not all that this remedy saves. It saves health and sometimes life. Every cold or attack of the grip weakens the system, lowers the vitality and paves the way for more serious diseases. Make a friend of this remedy and it will save you health and wealth. GOLD SOVEREIGN TREASURE

[illegible] of Ore Worth From $1 to $4 per Pound Said to Have Been Deposited in First National Bank Vaults—Ore-Washing Machine for Mary McKinney.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 13.—It is reported [illegible] of ore worth from $1 to [illegible] a pound were deposited in the [illegible] National bank vaults tonight by [illegible] Sovereign management.

The ore came from the west block of [illegible] located on the west side of [illegible] Hill. The ground where the high grade ore is being broken is under lease to the Cripple Creek Gold Temple company, and is coming from a drift south of the shaft at a depth of 600 feet from the surface. The ore is found in a [illegible] that runs from one to six inches in width, while another shoot, which [illegible] to six ounces in gold to the ton is found about a foot away from the rich streak and on both sides of the ore the vein matter is of good shipping grade, from which shipments are occasionally being made.

Four sets of lessees are at work on the Gold Sovereign property, and three out of four of them are sending out an occasional shipment to market. Manager Rock says that the output from the property for this month will exceed 200 tons, and shipments sent out from the property so far this year is a decided increase over the entire production made during the year of 1902. This is saying a great deal for the property, but from present indications, everything points to the Gold Sovereign taking its place among the foremost properties of the great gold camp.

Mary McKinney.

Dr. Crane of this city closed a contract with the Mary McKinney management for the installation of one of his patent ore washing machines. The Mary McKinney mine has large bodies of ore that require a treatment of thorough washing before it goes to the ore [illegible], as it comes from the property in a very slimy state and often the ore [illegible] over the dump on account of the [illegible] being unable to see the character of the rock.

The machine will have a capacity of [illegible] tons of rock per day and will make it much easier for the [illegible], for instead of shipping two or three different grades of ore, they will ship only one grade when this machine is in place. At least this has been the outcome of nearly every mine where a machine has been installed.

Dr. Crane said to your representative today that the new washer would be installed as soon as it could be shipped from Denver, where they are now being manufactured.

Van Fleet Sampler.

The old Van Fleet sampler at Goldfield, which has been transformed into a cyanide mill, was turned over today complete and ready for the treatment of ore, to the Globe Reduction and Mining company.

The new plant has a capacity of 100 tons a day, and it is the intention of Manager Ross to commence operations with half that amount. This rock coming from the company's properties, while some will be custom ore. The Globe company is officered by local and Peoria, Ill., men, there being a few eastern stockholders.

If the mill is a success after a 60 or 90-day run, it is reported that money has been pledged to build a similar plant with three times the capacity daily, in another part of the district. In addition to other leases, the Globe company has a 5-year lease on the Ironclad mine, where for some time 10 or 12 men have been working in blocking out an immense tonnage, it all being in the stopes and drifts, ready to be hoisted to the surface for treatment. This ore is especially susceptible to the cyanide treatment and the tonnage now in sight in the property will warrant a heavy product on during the life of the present contract and lease. Shipments to the mill will commence immediately.

Anaconda.

Dahl and others, operating in the bottom of a winze from the 400-foot level of the Anaconda vein tunnel, are reported to be taking out considerable high grade ore. It probably making as good a showing as any lease on Gold hill. Altogether there are 16 leases on the Anaconda ground. Most of them shipping ore, while a few are doing prospecting.

COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Considerable activity was noted yesterday in the mining stock market. Old Gold being the sensation of the day, as it has been for the week and month. The bid price was 8½ and the price asked 10. Only 5,000 shares changed hands. Mary Nevin advanced again, the opening price being 2¾ and the close 3⅛. Merrimac also sold from 1⅝ Tuesday to 2¼ yesterday, all the sales being made at the top figure.

C. K. & N. [illegible] DIVIDEND

The directors of the C. K. and N. Mining company met yesterday morning and declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 cent per share. The dividend is payable June [illegible] and the books for the transfer of stock will close May 26, all stockholders of record on that date receiving the dividend. The amount to be distributed is $15,215. The total distribution when this dividend has been paid will amount to $[illegible].

The last returns received from five cars of ore, 100 tons, netted the company in royalties $2,112, the lessees share being $8,000. The values returned from this shipment ran at the rate of from $11 to 17 to the ton. There are yet several shipments at the mill from which returns have not been received, but it is expected the ore will average fully as high as that from which returns have been received. The treasury will have cash on hand of considerably larger amount than will be required to pay another dividend and royalties are coming in regularly.

[illegible] Granfield is making the principal production from the bottom level and expects to start sinking the shaft as soon as the drainage tunnel is run, so as to take care of the water which will come into the mine when the shaft is deepened.

EASTERN MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Report from C. B. Fache & Co., to Otis & Hough, Bankers and Brokers, 127 Pike's Peak Ave.

New York, May 13.—C. F. and I. was the feature, advancing four points from the opening figures in the morning on rumors that the Gould and Rockefeller interests had bought stock for control. During the day the market became easier because of the belief that the threatened strike on the Great Northern would extend to the roads in the Northern Securities group. The Gould stocks were well supported. Canadian Pacific was active on the advance on the stock in London. The market closed without special feature, but with a firm undertone.

From McIntyre & Marshall—Speculation in stocks continues dull. The larger market operators who have not yet left the city do not appear to be trading to any extent, hence the narrow and local professional character. There were no engagements of gold for export by tomorrow's steamer because it is a slow boat and foreign houses say there is no particular urgency in the matter of such remittances at present. The rate of foreign exchange declined ¼, partly on this and partly in sympathy with a decline of about a centime in the rate of Paris exchange in London.

From Logan & Bryan—There is very little change in price and none in conditions. Market is extremely dull, with small professional trade on outside business. The gossip of the day has been devoid of interest. The indications are the recent selling of Pennsylvania has been treasury stock. The statement of the Northern Securities company and its present condition are being unfavorably discussed. We see no indications of improvement in the conditions of the market and still think stocks should be sold on the rallies.

CHICAGO GRAIN & PROVISIONS.

Furnished by Logan & Bryan to Otis & Hough, Bankers and Brokers, 127 Pike's Peak Ave.

Wheat—Liverpool, unchanged to ⅛ lower; Paris, ⅛ to 1¼ lower; Antwerp unchanged. Another extremely dull day. There was nothing in the cables. Some export business is reported at the seaboard, but the estimates are conflicting. It is safe to say, it is only moderate. Western markets are dull in a cash way. Southern Illinois, Missouri and south of the Ohio river continue to complain to some extent about the appearance of the crop. There is not enough of it, however, to stimulate speculative confidence. Local trade is entirely of a scalping nature, and outside business very dull. The shorts in May wheat are gradually getting covered we think. Market is still without tendency. Estimated cars, 35.

Corn—Liverpool unchanged to ⅛ higher. Market was a little firm early but on the whole was only steady, with a small volume of trade. Fair receipts and a fair shipping demand. The continued showery weather throughout the west prevents any great selling pressure and induces some buying, but the conditions are not considered acute enough to stimulate the speculative feeling to any extent. The Iowa weekly crop bulletin says it has been the most favorable week of the season for field work. Nebraska complaining of too much rain. No feature to the speculative trade. Estimated cars, 235.

Oats—Market is moderately active and firm. Crop reports continue rather unfavorable and the crop is generally regarded as making a poor start. There is pretty fair local buying of July and September oats and the country is trading moderately on this side also. Cash demand continues poor. Estimated cars, 120.

Provisions—Market is about unchanged. There was some strength early. Brokers were picking up ribs, supposed to be for Armour but the strength was lost later. Receipts [illegible] liberal and outside packers are disposed to market their product as it accumulates. Cash demand is still poor. Our own feeling is that the receipts of hogs will tend to come in excess of expectations and that provisions should be sold on rallies.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

For the week ending Monday, May 11.

Denver, May 12.—Although the temperature has averaged close to normal the nights have been too cool for rapid germination and growth in eastern counties. Beneficial showers have occurred in extreme eastern and southeastern counties and light showers elsewhere. In general, there is sufficient moisture except in south central counties. Plowing continues for corn, potatoes, late beets, melons and garden, and seeding is mostly finished. Small grain shows a good stand and, if not injured by the freeze, are reviving. The planting of beets is still in progress; good stands are generally in the northern counties; most of the early crop of potatoes will be in this week. Gardening is general and continued to have received growth.

The consensus of opinion is that despite the recent freeze, eastern counties will have a fair crop of apples and cherries, half crop or more of strawberries and a few plums, peaches and grapes; western counties—where more favorable temperature conditions have prevailed during the spring—report a heavy setting of apricots and peaches.

Alfalfa on the eastern slope was checked somewhat by the freeze and is making rather low growth, so that the first cut [illegible] promises to be light. The ranges are improving, but as yet afford little feed, and stock is generally thin.

W. F. WERNER'S SEAR[illegible] FROM [illegible]

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May [illegible].—A paper was filed in the office of the county clerk this morning signed by W. F. Werner, the man who was conspicuous in the courts a few months ago being convicted of using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

Werner, president of the industrial company, and owner of the controlling interest in the said stock of this company, will be invalid, and set aside by legal proceedings, if sought to be availed of." ROOSEVELT'S TRIBUTE TO HIS PREDECESSOR IN OFFICE

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, May 13.—President Roosevelt arose early today and at 9 o'clock left the Palace hotel, escorted by a squadron of cavalry. The streets were lined with people who cheered as the president's carriage passed on the way to Native Sons' hall, where a reception in the president's honor was held.

Mayor Schmitz and Secretary Loeb were seated with the chief executive, and British Admiral Bickford and staff came directly behind members of the executive committee following in carriages. At the Native Sons' building was assembled a vast throng, which, as the president came in sight, manifested great enthusiasm. The hall itself was packed to the doors with members of the California Society of Pioneers, the Native Sons of the Golden West, the Native Daughters and the Veterans of the Mexican War. Ex-Mayor James D. Phelan delivered a brief address of welcome and introduced Henry B. Russ, president of the Society of California Pioneers, who made a brief but eloquent speech.

Mexican War Veterans.

General Stewart, president of the Society of Veterans of the Mexican War, was next presented and spoke a few words in behalf of his colleagues.

H. R. McNoble, president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, made a few remarks, and Miss Aliss D. Keith addressed the president in behalf of the Native Daughters. James D. Phelan then presented to the president a souvenir of the occasion, the work of a native sculptor, representing a bear fight, reproduced in gold.

In accepting the gift, President Roosevelt responded in a happy manner to all of the addresses of welcome which had been made. His remarks were punctuated by laughter and applause and at their close he was escorted to his carriage by a joint committee of the assembled orders.

The president's party then proceeded to Van Ness avenue, where thousands of school children had assembled. The pupils of many of the schools carried banners beautifully worked in silks and other fine fabrics. Others were headed by drummer boys. The Golden Gate Park band, stationed at the corner of O'Farrell street, as the president passed, set up a lively tune and moved northward toward Broadway.

The escort of colored cavalry fell in behind them and then came the president, riding in a carriage with Mayor Schmitz, M. H. De Young and Private Secretary Loeb.

Gift by Chinese Child.

Members of the board of education and others followed. Every child had a flag which was waved as the president passed. An incident of the ride was the presentation to the president of a photograph by a little Chinese girl who was lifted up so he could shake her hand.

After the review of children, the president drove through the Presidio and had a glance at the buildings, the various barracks of the different troops and the new fortifications which face the entrance to the harbor and command the bay. He continued the drive along the new road and finally reached the golf links, on which the military review was held. General MacArthur was in command. The men marched past with the tread of veterans—infantry, artillery and cavalry. Each arm of the service made a fine showing and their bearing showed that they were fit for any service demanded of them.

The president complimented General MacArthur and other high officers on the excellent showing of the men and the splendid appearance of the garrison.

McKinley Monument.

The presidential party was then driven through Golden Gate park to the Cliff house where luncheon was taken with members of the executive committee, Governor Pardee, Admiral Bickford and other invited guests, returning through the park. The party halted at the Market street entrance, where a large crowd was in waiting to watch the president turn the first shovelful of earth for the McKinley monument.

Many representatives of the Spanish-American war veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic and the pioneers were in attendance and they were referred to in enthusiastic terms by the president in his remarks.

The ceremonies were opened by Chairman A. A. Watkins, who made reference to the visit of President McKinley two years ago, paid tribute to his character and said that it was fitting that the one succeeding him should turn the first shovelful of earth preparatory to the laying of the cornerstone of the enduring monument. Mr. Watkins then presented Mr. Roosevelt with a souvenir shovel made from the material of which the monument will be built.

President Roosevelt said it was appropriate that the first sod should be turned in the presence of the old comrades of President McKinley in the time of 1861-65. He then continued:

"It is not too much to say that no man since Lincoln was so widely, universally loved in this country as was President McKinley, for it was given to him not only to rise to the most exalted station but to typify in his character and conduct those virtues which each American citizen worthy of the name likes to regard as typically American; to typify the virtues of cleanly and upright living, in all relations, private and public, as in the most intimate family relations, in the relations of business, in the relations with his neighbors and finally in his conduct of the great affairs of state.

"And exactly as it was given to him to do his part in settling aright the greatest problem which it has ever befallen this nation to settle since it became a nation, the problem of the preservation of the union and the abolition of slavery, exactly as it was his good fortune to do his part as a man should in his youth in settling that great problem, so it was his good fortune, when he became in fact and in name the nation's chief, to settle the problems springing out of the Spanish war, problems less important only than those which were dealt with by the man who, under the lead of Washington, founded our government and the man who, upholding the statesmanship of Lincoln and following the sword of Grant or Sherman or Thomas, or Sheridan, saved and perpetuated the republic.

"When 1898 came and the war which President McKinley in all honesty and with all sincerity sought to avoid became inevitable and was pressed upon him, he met it as he and you had met the crisis of 1861. He did his best to prevent the war coming. Once it became evident it had to come, then he did his best to see that it was ended as quickly and as thoroughly as possible.

Foreign Policy.

"It is a good lesson for nations and individuals to learn never to hit if it can be helped, but never to hit soft. (Laughter and applause) and I think that it is getting to be fairly well understood that that is our foreign policy. (Laughter and applause.) We do not want to threaten; certainly we do not desire to wrong any man. We are going to keep out of trouble if we possibly can keep out, but if it becomes necessary for our honor and our interest to assert a given position, we shall assert it with every intention of making the assertion good.

"In our country there is not any soldier that is not a volunteer soldier. Every officer, every enlisted man in the navy or the army is there because he has volunteered to go in, and as I looked at the faces of the officers and the men under General MacArthur and Admiral Glass I felt proud as commander in chief, that they formed our army and navy and prouder as an American citizen to see such American citizens wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam."

On behalf of soldiers of the Spanish war Mr. King, who was a Rough Rider, presented the president with a beautiful canteen and Mr. Roosevelt made a happy response.

From the park the president was driven directly to the Palace hotel, where he rested until evening.
